Horticulture Week has been compiling the guide for 35 years, during which time the guide has become ever more comprehensive both in the number of growers and suppliers included and in the range of plant products detailed. So, whether you are looking for plants to fill your garden centre benches, seeking new plants to propagate or develop on your nursery or a landscaper requiring material to include in your projects, the Horticulture Week Plant Suppliers Guide presents all the information you need at your fingertips.

It is a comprehensive guide and easy to use. Tables give quick-to-look-up records of suppliers of trees of various sizes, conifers, shrubs, hedging material, climbers, herbaceous plants, alpines and more. The tables also indicate whether plants are field-grown, container-grown or available as young plants. A separate section is dedicated to suppliers of bedding and pot plants. The markets catered for by each supplier are also displayed in the tables, along with useful information such as the availability of cash-and-carry services, trade catalogues and contract growing as well as whether or not plants are grown and supplied in peat-free growing media. And UK suppliers are listed separately from overseas suppliers.

No guide can be called complete without a comprehensive A-Z listing of suppliers. This guide provides postal and telephone points of contact for both UK and overseas suppliers. Many suppliers have provided further information such as specialities and pot sizes.

This year the implications of Brexit will gradually become clearer as the UK leaves the European Union. But mists of uncertainty may remain for some time and during this period of transition, knowledge will be key. The Horticulture Week Plant Suppliers Guide, backed by our intensive research, can help you keep informed and make winning decisions.

Finally, the importance of biosecurity must be stressed. Pests and diseases are easily transferred from one country to another through trade and then out into the landscape with potential threats to our native and naturalised flora. We all must pay attention to buying from trusted sources, inspecting crops, checking paperwork and, where required, satisfying quarantine conditions.

How To Use

In the tables starting on page 7, there are details of the stock supplied by each nursery, together with a guide to the market each is aiming for, and an area code to allow you to select nurseries in your locality. The map on this page gives you the area code.

Within the tables, symbols are used to indicate whether the stock is container-grown (●), field-grown (★), or both (✪). Nurseries supplying young plants in the form of cuttings, plugs or cell-grown plants are also indicated (▼). The symbol (●) means that plants are available as cuttings and larger sizes.

Contact addresses, phone and fax numbers and e-mail and web addresses follow the tables. Where a company has enhanced its listing a statement on its specialities, size and delivery arrangements is included.

“Haymarket offers ICL a bridge to communicate with growers and Horticulture Week is the must-have publication within the ornamentals market. Horticulture Week has given ICL opportunities to promote the business effectively and in a timely manner across the season giving us maximum exposure across a number of essential campaigns. Not only has it increased a campaign’s reach but it has also added credibility to what we are doing.”

Adam Ferjani - Marketing Communications Manager

Perennial was and still is a lifeline for us. I don’t know how we would have coped without them.

Perennial is the only charity dedicated to helping those who manage, maintain and enhance our green spaces. Whether you work in or are retired from the industry, we provide completely free, confidential advice and financial and emotional support for you and your family in times of need.

Who we help
We help everyone working in horticulture including gardeners, garden designers, turf care and amenity workers, landscapers, landscape architects, commercial production horticulturists, greenkeepers, groundsmen, arborists and foresters, garden centre, plant centre and nursery workers.

How we help
Our highly trained and experienced team of professional caseworkers and debt advisers make home visits within just days of initial contact. Our help can include:

- Making grants and payments
- Assisting with access to benefits and support from the government and specialist agencies
- Dedicated debt advice
- Training and education advice and support through our training fund

Visit perennial.org.uk/personal-stories to see some of the people we have supported and how one day we might be able to help you or someone you know.

We help with
We help with the many challenges during someone’s lifetime, including:

Ill health | Disability | Injury | Relationship breakdown | Job loss | Workplace accidents
Housing and welfare issues | Bereavement | Old age | Poverty | Debt | Financial hardship

No membership is required to access our free services and we are here to take the strain for as long as is needed.

You are not alone, call us in confidence: General advice | 0800 093 8453  Debt advice | 0800 093 8456
Visit perennial.org.uk/help for more information

Our work depends on the generous support of the horticulture industry and the garden loving public.
